The Brandreth showroom is nestled beside a canal which runs through Parbold and is next door to the famous Rocking Horse Tea Rooms and Mill House Gallery. Step inside and you will see several stunning, bespoke, hand-crafted kitchens and space-saving furniture displays in both traditional and contemporary designs.

Brandreth's Directors, award-winning interior designer Steve McLean and successful businessman Nigel Eden, recognised a need to provide a truly bespoke kitchen and room space-saving service, incorporating contemporary innovative design with high-quality craftsmanship.

'Only the best raw materials and fittings are used.'

The problem they faced was finding suppliers who offered the quality, fine detail and craftsmanship they were searching for. After months of consultations with several suppliers, Edwin Loxley of Nottingham matched their stringent brief. Edwin Loxley's Managing Director, Joe Cavani, shared their passion and more importantly embraced all of the intricate design details devised by Steve, creating hand-crafted original work, unmatched by others.

"By understanding the increasing demands of our customers evolving lifestyles, only the best raw materials and fittings are used to complement Steve's designs."

Open each drawer and cupboard to reveal not only imaginative space-saving devices, but also stylish appliances from renowned suppliers including; kitchen appliances 'Sub-Zero' and 'Wolf'.

Brandreth are backed by a team which includes interior designers, stonemasons and window furnishers. "It's all in the detail. We are not simply in the business of supplying 'new' kitchens, we are here to create innovative living environments," says Steve.

From your first consultation to presentations in your own home, Brandreth ensures that every detail is taken into consideration and that your expectations are not only met, but exceeded.
